May 2011

Vol. 110, No. 736

CONTENTS

- 171 Sudan on the Cusp . . . . . Richard S. Williamson
Southern Sudan is set to become an independent nation in July, but potentially violent disputes with Khartoum remain.
- 177 Ivory Coast: Another Asterisk for Africa's Democratization . . . . . William B. Milam and Jennifer G. Jones
The resort to military force to dislodge from the presidential palace the loser in last year's election can hardly be deemed a triumph for democracy and the rule of law.
- 184 Africa's Reluctant Fertility Transition . . . . . Richard Cincotta
Childbearing has declined dramatically elsewhere in the world, boosting economic and political development. Why not south of the Sahara? Eighth in a series on demographic dilemmas.
- 191 Education in Africa—The Story Isn't Over . . . . . Rebecca Winthrop
A revolution in attitudes has taken hold in the region as parents, advocates, and political elites call for universal access to schools. Progress in actual learning, however, remains limited.
- 196 Kabila's Congo: Hardly "Post-Conflict" . . . . . Thomas Turner
Although Joseph Kabila, the Democratic Republic of Congo's president, likely will win reelection this year, violence and insecurity still rule the country.

PERSPECTIVE

- 201 North Africa's Epochal Year of Freedom . . . . . Augustus Richard Norton and Ashraf el-Sherif
Uprisings in North Africa have electrified the world and inaugurated a new era in the region, but their outcomes are uncertain. The old order could yet prove resilient.

BOOKS

- 204 Southern Africa Beyond Caricature . . . . . William W. Finan Jr.
A new book traces the political development of South Africa and Zimbabwe through the personal histories of leaders who started as revolutionaries and became presidents.

THE MONTH IN REVIEW

- 206 March 2011
An international chronology of events in March, country by country, day by day.
