

CURRENT HISTORY

February 2016

Vol. 115, No. 778

CONTENTS

- 43 Latin America's Elusive Public Sphere Philip Oxhorn
The region's democratic transition over the past several decades has yet to fulfill its inclusionary promise. A vibrant exchange of ideas and opinions is lacking. Fourth in a series on public spheres around the world.
- 51 Peace in Colombia: A Time to Believe? Kimberly Theidon
As negotiators close in on an agreement to end decades of civil war, they must address questions of how to reintegrate ex-combatants in society and provide redistributive justice for victims.
- 57 Mexico in the Grip of Violence Beatriz Magaloni and Zaira Razu
Mexican citizens are facing a human rights crisis, preyed on by criminal organizations and complicit state officials. Law enforcement provides little more justice than it did in authoritarian times.
- 63 A New Era of Accountability in Guatemala? Adriana Beltrán
Outraged by high-level corruption uncovered by an international commission, Guatemalans took to the streets to end official impunity, forcing their president and other high officials to resign and face charges.
- 68 Brazil in the Crucible of Crisis Matthew M. Taylor
After being hailed as an exemplary model of economic development, Brazil's state capitalist system is in disarray as a sprawling corruption scandal merges with an impeachment drama.
- PERSPECTIVE
- 75 The US-Cuba Thaw and Hemispheric Relations Michael Shifter
Washington's policy of isolating Cuba succeeded only in alienating most of Latin America. Obama's new course has been welcomed, though other irritants, such as US immigration policy, remain.
- BOOKS
- 77 Leviathan and the Magic Bullet Paulo Drinot
A new book tries to explain historical variations in the rise of the state in four Latin American countries. The author's inclination to reduce history to data results in much of the story being left out.
- THE MONTH IN REVIEW
- 80 December 2015
An international chronology of events in December, country by country, day by day.