CONTENTS

- 43 The Challenges of Formalizing Labor in Latin America Matthew E. Carnes
Most workers in Latin America have jobs that are off the books, without benefits or middle-class status. Innovative programs are seeking to redress that. Fifth in a series on labor relations around the world.
- 49 Chile's Elites Face Demands for Reform Jennifer Pribble
The center-left governments that followed the Pinochet dictatorship reformed privatized social programs but left their basic structures intact. Now a restive public is demanding more radical changes.
- 55 Indigenous Empowerment in Evo Morales's Bolivia. John Crabtree
Members of the indigenous majority have gained new rights and influence since one of their own was elected president, but their interests have sometimes been trumped by national development goals.
- 61 Venezuela's Manmade Disaster Michael M. McCarthy
Amid food shortages, soaring crime, and deepening discontent, President Nicolás Maduro has resorted to repression to defend the socialist regime he inherited from his charismatic predecessor.
- 68 Haiti's 'Republic of NGOs' Mark Schuller
Nongovernmental organizations have long been a powerful presence in Haiti. Their performance in the aftermath of the devastating 2010 earthquake revealed the flaws in their approach.
- PERSPECTIVE
- 74 The Difficult Road to Peace in Colombia. Eduardo Posada-Carbó
Negotiations to settle a long-running guerrilla conflict finally produced an agreement, which voters promptly rejected. Now that the government has pushed through the pact anyway, will it stick?
- BOOKS
- 77 Chronicles of Everyday Lawlessness Sonja Wolf
A vivid account of the criminal violence ravaging Central America shows why many migrants have fled to the United States—and how Washington's policies are deeply implicated in their plight.
- THE MONTH IN REVIEW
- 80 December 2016
An international chronology of events in December, country by country, day by day.
