CONTENTS

- 163 Chiefs, Democracy, and Development in Contemporary Africa.....Kate Baldwin
Traditional leaders do not deserve their reputation as threats to democracy, and they often organize rural development projects. Eighth in a series on ways of governing.
- 169 Sudan's Rule of Law Revolution.....Mark Fathi Massoud
A legal system that was abused throughout decades of successive dictatorships offers the best hope for safeguarding a fragile democratic transformation.
- 175 How Informal Transport Systems Drive African Cities.....Daniel E. Agbibo
Plans to modernize transit systems across the continent often ignore the motley array of unregulated carriers that have become a vital part of the urban fabric.
- 182 African Popular Culture Enters the Global Mainstream.....Matthias Krings and Tom Simmert
Innovative music and film industries, led by Nigerian pioneers, are steadily gaining international audiences and influence.
- 188 African Decolonization's Past and Present Trajectories.....Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni
The process of the ridding the continent of colonialism's legacies is unfinished six decades after the first wave of independence, but activists are eager to complete the task.
- PERSPECTIVE
- 194 'Carpe DM': Seizing the Afropolitan Day.....Hlonipha Mokoena
A new generation of writers and artists has created a sensibility that is rooted in Africa, yet connected with a global diaspora. Its ethos of black internationalism has many forebears.
- BOOKS
- 197 Black Travel and Presence in the Building of South Africa.....Robin L. Turner
Kruger National Park, a celebrated safari destination, has a long history with black South Africans. A new book shows how black elites engaged in tourism even under apartheid.
