

(© Underwood & Underwood)

REAR ADMIRAL WILLIAM S. SIMS

Who has seen forty-two years of active service in the United States Navy, rising through all the various grades to the rank of Vice Admiral. He commanded the American naval operations in European waters from April, 1917, to the end of the war.