Coming Next Month

What do the INDIAN people think of us? How do Americans look to the WEST EUROPEANS, the BRITISH, the AFRICANS? How about the RUSSIANS, the EGYPTIANS, the JAPANESE? And our Good Neighbors in LATIN AMERICA?

Because we feel that it is important to see ourselves as others see us, we have asked outstanding foreign scholars to join in an issue called THE WORLD LOOKS AT AMERICA, to be published next month.

Correspondence and cables between here and Moscow assure us that Boris Izakov, editor of International Affairs (Moscow), will write for us on contemporary Russian attitudes toward the United States. A. L. Rowse of All Souls College, Oxford, author of the new book, The Early Churchills, will write on English views; German Arciniegas, well-known author and scholar and Professor of Spanish at Columbia University, will describe Latin American reactions to us. A cable from Cairo informs us that we can count on an essay from Egypt's Minister of Cultural Affairs, Hussein Monés. While visiting in the United States, Tom Mboya, General Secretary of the Kenya Federation of Labor, will describe African attitudes. From Paris, Guy Métraux of the International Commission for a History of the Scientific and Cultural Development of Mankind, is going to analyze West European opinion. M. V. Kamath of the Press Trust of India will write about the viewpoint of his country; Kazuo Kawai, former editor of the Nippon Times and Associate Professor of Political Science at Ohio State University, will describe Japan's reaction to the United States.
