

Andrea Giuffre & Beth M. Huebner , Monetary Sanctions Assessed for Sexual Offense Convictions: Avenues for Policy Reform	147
Jordan M. Hyatt, Synøve N. Andersen, & Steven L. Chanenson , Nordic Design: Embracing Inspiration for Reforming Criminal Fines	155
SECTION IV. EMPIRICAL PERSPECTIVES
Jeffrey T. Ward & Nathan W. Link , Financial Sanctions in Pennsylvania: An Examination of Assessed Amounts and Repayment by Indigent Status	166
Maria Katarina E. Rafael & Chris Mai , Understanding the Burden of Legal Financial Obligations on Indigent Washingtonians: Research in Brief	173
Evan Walker , Legal Financial Obligations (LFOs) as Taxes, Regulatory Fees, or User Charges? An Analysis of Washington’s Criminal Legal System LFO Revenue	175
Kathleen Powell , Who Pays? Measuring Differences in the Process of Repayment of Legal Financial Obligations	186
Nathan W. Link , Is There a Link Between Criminal Debt and Recidivism in Reentry?	188
Lisa Servon & Ava Esquier , Women, Reentry, and the Financialization of the Criminal Justice System	193
Virginia R. Smercina, Foster C. Kamanga, & Barbara G. Brents , Costs and Consequences of Traffic Fines and Fees in Nevada	196
SECTION V. STAKEHOLDER VIEWS
Michael Fischer , Services Rendered: Reflections on Prison and the System’s Pound of Flesh	198
Stephon Whitley , Revenue Generation Through Financial Sanctions in the Prison Industrial Complex: Reflections from My Experiences in New Jersey	200
Marshall L. White & William J. Sabol , Three Key Findings on Legal Financial Obligations from the Survey of Adults on Probation	203
Ebony L. Ruhland, Katie Leigh, & Amber Petkus , Probation Officer Viewpoints on the Assessment, Collection, and Enforcement of Fees	206
William Hall , Fine and Fee Reform Efforts in the City of Philadelphia	209

SECTION I. INTRODUCTION: GUEST EDITORS' OBSERVATIONS

Jordan M. Hyatt & Nathan W. Link , The Cost of Financial Sanctions in Sentencing and Corrections: Avenues for Research, Policy, and Practice	89
--	----

SECTION II. FOUNDATIONAL FRAMEWORKS

Brandon L. Garrett , Spiraling Criminal Debt	92
Cortney E. Lollar , Punishment Through Restitution	98
Chris Albin-Lackey , Fines, Fees, and Fundamental Rights: How the Fifty States Measure Up, Seven Years After Ferguson	107
Jordan Zvonkovich, Stacey H. Haynes, & R. Barry Ruback , A Continuum of Coercive Costs: A State-Level Analysis of the Imposition and Payment Enforcement of Statutory Fees	113

SECTION III. EMERGENT LEGAL AND POLICY ISSUES

Carmen L. Diaz, Michelle Ying, Miriam Northcutt Bohmert, Jessica Meckes, & Mitchell Farrell , The Hidden Practice of Utilizing Bonds to Cover Legal Financial Obligations	119
Andrea Bopp Stark & Geoff Walsh , Sentenced to a Life of Debt: It is Time for a Reassessment of How Bankruptcy Law Intersects with Fines and Fees to Keep People in Debt	128
Katelyn J. B. King, Amber Petkus, & Ebony L. Ruhland , Exploring How Fines and Fees Finance Community Supervision	139
Matheson Sanchez & Shytierra Gaston , Reforming Monetary Sanctions: Implications of the Massachusetts Criminal Justice Reform Act	145