

MEXICAN STUDIES/ESTUDIOS MEXICANOS

Volume 27, Number 1 · Winter 2011

Editorial Statement

Articles

- Catherine Andrews, Los primeros proyectos constitucionales en México y su influencia británica (1821-1836) 5
- Michael Topmiller, Frederick J. Conway, and James Gerber, US Migration to Mexico: Numbers, Issues, and Scenarios 45
- Ryan M. Alexander, Backwater Bureaucrat to Revolutionary Myth-Maker: Bernardo M. de León, Caciquismo, and Memory in Nayarit, 1920-1990 73
- Stuart Easterling, Gender and Poetry Writing in the Light of Mexico's Liberal Victory, 1867-ca. 1890 97
- Alberto Ribas: Transatlantic Fuentes: Between "The Two Shores" of Multiculturalism and Glossocentrism 143
- Daniela di Piramo, Beyond Modernity: Irony, Fantasy, and the Challenge to Grand Narratives in Subcomandante Marcos' Tales 177

Review Essay

- Nichole Sanders, "Gender and Honor in Mexican History: Liberalism and Revolution in Nineteenth and Twentieth-Century Mexico" 207

In Memoriam

- Linda Egan, Carlos Monsiváis, in Collective and Personal Memory 225
- Claudio Lomnitz, On the Improbable Popularity of Friedrich Katz 233

- Other Books Received 240

- Notes on Contributors 243

- Information for Authors 246

- Normas para los colaboradores 249