

Nineteenth- Century Literature

VOLUME 75 • NUMBER 2
September 2020

DORRIT NOW: A SPECIAL ISSUE
CONVENED BY JONATHAN H. GROSSMAN

ABSTRACTS

For Abstracts, see pp. 158, 183, 206, 238

ARTICLES

SUKANYA BANERJEE

Writing Bureaucracy, Bureaucratic Writing: Charles Dickens,
Little Dorrit, and Mid-Victorian Liberalism 133

KATHLEEN FREDERICKSON

Getting the Goods in Little Dorrit: Quarantine's Queer Logistics 159

JASON R. RUDY

Settled: Dorrit Down Under 184

DANIEL M. STOUT

Little, Maybe Less: Little Dorrit's Minimal Moralia 207

REVIEWS

CRISTINA RICHIERI GRIFFIN

Elaine Freedgood, *Worlds Enough: The Invention of Realism
in the Victorian Novel* 239

WILL CLARK

Derrick R. Spires, The Practice of Citizenship: Black Politics and Print Culture in the Early United States 243

(continued overleaf)

NAN Z. DA
Maurice S. Lee, Overwhelmed: Literature, Aesthetics, and the Nineteenth-Century Information Revolution	248
MIMI WINICK
Christopher Herbert, Evangelical Gothic: The English Novel and the Religious War on Virtue from Wesley to "Dracula"	251
ALLEN MACDUFFIE
Nathan K. Hensley and Philip Steer, eds., Ecological Form: System and Aesthetics in the Age of Empire	255
NED SCHANTZ
Richard Menke, Literature, Print Culture, and Media Technologies, 1880-1900: Many Inventions	258
CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE	262