The Historical Society of Southern California was founded on November 1, 1883, and incorporated February 13, 1891. It has enjoyed an unbroken record of continuous activity and growth. Commencing in 1884, and each year through 1934, the society issued an Annual Publication. In 1935 The Quarterly (later renamed the Southern California Quarterly) was initiated. The Society's publications through 1976 have been indexed and described in a concise abstract of articles by Anna Marie and Everett Gordon Hager (comps.), A Bibliography (1958), The Topical Index (1959), and Cumulative Index (1977). The current issue and all back issues are available online to members of the Society (regular level and higher) and through subscribing libraries.

CONTRIBUTORS

A. C. W. Bethel, a native Angeleno, attended Occidental College but took all his degrees from UCSB, then taught philosophy at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, for forty years. He has since relocated to Vista in San Diego County, where he bought the house next door to his long-time friend, Tracy Lu Johnston. (She designed the timeline graphics for this article.) He retains warm memories of Los Angeles, and of the Pacific Electric Railway, whose red cars he rode as a boy, but he has a broad interest in California history generally, and transportation history in particular.

Dr. Jan Hansen is an assistant professor in the Department of History at Humboldt University Berlin, Germany. His research focuses on the United States and Europe in the 19th and 20th centuries, with particular interests in the histories of infrastructure, the environment, and urban history. Currently working on a second book project dealing with the everyday use of water and power infrastructures in Los Angeles between 1860 and 1940, Jan was a Dibner Research Fellow at the Huntington Library in San Marino, CA, and a Visiting Research Fellow at the German Historical Institute in Washington, DC. In 2021, he will take up an appointment as Feodor Lynen Fellow at the University of Southern California.

Rosie Cano Bermudez is a Chicana from Southeast Los Angeles and is a first-generation college student. She is a UC President's Postdoctoral fellow at the University of California, Los Angeles in the Department of History. She received her PhD in Chicana and Chicano Studies at the University of California, Santa Barbara. She is currently working on her book manuscript, Dignity Warriors: Alicia Escalante and the Multiracial Coalition for Economic Justice and Human Dignity.
