

THE PUBLIC HISTORIAN

A Journal of Public History

VOLUME 43 FEBRUARY 2021 NUMBER 1

SPECIAL ISSUE: CHILDHOOD, CONSUMPTION, GENDER, AND PUBLIC HISTORY

Lisa Jacobson, guest editor

EDITOR'S CORNER: History, Memory, and Marketplace 5

James F. Brooks and Sarah H. Case

INTRODUCTION: When History Becomes Child's Play 8

Lisa Jacobson

RESEARCH ARTICLES

Which Vitamins are in the Chocolate Cake? How American Girl Marketing Has Responded to Shifting Discourses About Gender and Race 18

Emilie Zaslow

Constructed Pasts: Narratives of Home, History, and Otherness in LEGO 39

Colin Fanning

What Do Players Learn from Videogames?: Historical Analysis and Sid Meier's Civilization 62

John Majewski

Schoolhouse Rock! for a New Generation: What Should It Look Like? 82

Paul Ringel

Girls' Organizations, Public History, and the 1976 American Bicentennial 102

Jennifer Helgren

REPORTS FROM THE FIELD

No Ordinary American Girl: A Peek into the Creation of Civil Rights Girl, Melody Ellison 123

Mark Speltz

Girlhood (It's complicated): An Exhibition Exploring the Politics of Girlhood 138

Kathleen Franz with Nancy Bercaw, Kenneth Cohen, Mireya Loza, and Sam Vong

American Girls: A Podcast and a Community 164

Allison Horrocks and Mary Mahoney

REVIEW

Review Essay

Playing Not-So-Nicely: Respectability Politics and One Crazy Summer's Radical
Black Girl Protagonist 181

Molly Rosner